Custom Parlay Suggestions

The "Total Bases (2+)" and "Over Two Hits" sections show the top 5 players most likely to achieve these outcomes based on their recent performance. The probabilities are calculated using historical data from the last five games. The "Pitcher Dominance" section highlights pitchers with the highest strikeout probabilities. Recent performance is indicated by (S2H1) format, where S2 represents two singles and H1 represents one homerun in the player's last five games. Only hits with a value greater than zero are displayed.

Top 5 Batters Most Likely to Achieve

These sections show the top 5 players most likely to achieve each outcome based on their historical matchup data against the specific pitchers they are facing today. The probabilities are calculated by analyzing each batter's past performance against their assigned pitcher, including relevant statistics like batting averages, slugging percentages, and hit types. This matchup-specific approach provides more targeted insights than general recent performance, as it accounts for how each batter has historically performed against the specific pitching style they will face today.

GRIT Metrics Analysis

The GRIT (Ground Rate, Inverse BABIP, and Tolerance) metric measures a player's plate discipline, bad-luck avoidance, and ball type. It combines walk rate (BB%), inverse BABIP (to account for bad luck), and ground ball to fly ball ratio (GB/FB) to identify players who consistently make "gritty" at-bats. A higher GRIT score indicates better plate discipline and a tendency to hit ground balls rather than fly balls. Recent performance is indicated by (S2H1) format, where S2 represents two successful at-bats and H1 represents one hit in the player's last five games. Only stats with a value greater than zero are displayed.
